

New Vaccine May Contain Rabies

Doctors and scientists thought they had a huge break through in a cure for cancer. After millions of dollars, hours, marathons and deaths it was finally here. One scientist said ''we were so overwhelmed by what we had just discovered, it was history in the making'' However after more current studies some patience started to experience symptoms such as drooling, convulsions, muscle spasms and even numbness. After more research doctors found the whole thing to be a fraud. Millions of dollars went down the drain and patience have been diagnosed with rabies.

Families are now attempting to sue the scientists who started the whole operation. All the people's hopes had once again been lost. The challenge to find a cure for cancer is still being fought by many doctors and experts who really do care and who aren't just doing it for money.
